New Changes In Wage Formula Ceilings Seen

Controversial Ten Per Cent Wage Changes Likely

By FELIX COTTEN
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Economic Stabilizer Johnston's action in exempting cost-of-living labor contracts from wage controls pointed the way today to new changes in the controversial ten percent wage ceiling formula.

Johnston is expected to order additional modifications of the wage ceiling if the stalemate created by labor's walkout of the mobilization program continues.

Meanwhile, no immediate settlement of the break between organized labor and the Truman administration is in sight.

In another stabilization field, Price Controller DiSalle is proceeding with his plan of replacing the January 25 price freeze with specific regulations dealing in detail with different phases of the price control problem.

Increase In Auto Prices

His latest move was approval of a 3.5 percent increase in new automobile prices.

DiSalle extended for 60 days the order automobile prices as of the levels prevailing on December 1, with 3.5 modification designed to offset increases in wages and other costs to manufacturers.

DiSalle also plans to issue in the near future his specific regulations controlling markups on food prices.

In approving the wage ceiling earlier this week, Johnston recommended to the disrupted Wage Stabilization Board that cost-of-living escalator clauses and productivity improvement provisions in work contracts be exempted until June 30, pending a study intended to work out some more definite settlement of these problems.

Johnston also asked for exemption (Continued on Page Two)

PA News noticed that the nice warm sunshine of the past few days has brought the little snowdrops, one of the first flowers of spring, into bud. They will be blooming most any day now.

Signs at the present seem to point to an early spring, but there can still be some rough weather during the month of March, and even up into April. After the tough winter we have had, however, an early spring would be most welcome.

Highway repair work will get under way in earnest as soon as the amesite plants start operations in full it is learned from A. A. Martin, county highway superintendent. Presently spot work is being done in various sections to do away with numerous holes. The men are concentrating on Route 18 in the Wampum area which is in a bad condition.

Districts adjacent to this area got more or less of the lion type of weather on Thursday, while this area enjoyed the lamb like temperatures on the first day of the month. In Albany, New York, snow was falling on that city last evening was reported. Residents to the west were experiencing wintry blasts.

Many gallons of yellow paint will be used by city workmen this coming spring as they repaint the various no-parking zones on the curbs of the downtown area as (Continued on Page Two)

Road Center Of Hoengsong Is Taken From Reds

Marines Battle Way Into Vital Sector In Bayonet Drive

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, L. N. S.)

TOKYO, March 3.—(Saturday)—Bayonet-wielding U.S. marines chopped their way through the vital mid-Korean highway hub of Hoengsong Friday against fierce Communist opposition that extended along the entire 60-mile central front.

The tank-paced leather-necks wrested the road center from Chinese forces and slammed 2,000 yards northward to take the commanding ground between Hoengsong and the 38th Parallel, 34 miles to the north.

To the east of the marines the U.S. Seventh and Second Divisions and South Korean troops were meeting "determined" resistance in their push for the important lateral highway from Hoengsong to Pangnim, 24 miles east of the newly captured town.

Air report said the hills north of the east-west road were "swarming" with reds digging foxholes to resist the grinding of "Operation Killer."

Gen. Eisenhower's Trip To London Diplomatic Task

PARIS, March 2.—(INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of North Atlantic treaty organization defense forces, was said by authoritative quarters today to be engaged in his first major task of diplomacy since assuming his new post.

The purpose of his aerial trip to London yesterday was described as more diplomatic in nature than military. It was believed prompted by the British government's deep concern over reports that Lieut. Gen. Louis Norstand, chief of all United States air forces in Europe, would be named to command of the air arm to be established in the western European defense set-up.

It was said the British told Gen. Eisenhower that the appointment of an American to that post would seriously embarrass the government in the wake of the nomination of American Admiral William F. Fechteler to command the NATO sea forces.

As a result of his visit, Gen. Eisenhower now is considering the possibility of appointing British air chief marshal Hugh Saunders to command the air arm.

U.S. Delegation Embarking For Paris Parley

Will Seek To Frame Agenda For Meeting Of Big Four Later

By JOHN A. REICHMANN

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A United States diplomatic delegation, instructed to work for some degree of European peace but pessimistic about its possibilities, leaves for Paris today.

The small group of technical experts headed by Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup left for New York by train at noon and will enplane for Paris at 6 p.m. (EST).

To Draft Agenda

The Paris gathering, consisting of the deputies of the foreign ministers of the U.S., Britain, France and Soviet Union, is aimed at drafting an agenda for a full dress meeting of the foreign ministers. This is due to be held in Washington in April, if at all.

The U.S. group will be joined in Paris by Charles E. Bohlen, minister-counselor at the Embassy there. Bohlen is an expert on Russian affairs and is well-versed in the language.

The proposed Big Four foreign ministers' meeting, originally sponsored by Moscow, has been regarded skeptically by the west's political leaders.

Contracts For Building Work Awarded Today

New Castle Firms Are Given Major Contracts For Work

Matthew Leivo and Sons, Inc., were today given the contract for the erection of the addition to the Jameson Memorial hospital on Wilmington avenue.

The Leivo bid is for $935,675, which includes the general contract and those for the heating, plumbing and electrical work. The heating and plumbing will be done by Frank P. Andrews and Son Company and the electrical work by the Bruce-Merriells Company.

Work will start immediately on the erection of the new addition.

The contracts were signed at noon today at a special meeting of the board of directors, and the announcement of the awards came immediately after from the chairman of the board, Roger W. Rowland.

Only for Building

The contracts signed today include only the building, the heating and plumbing work, which includes a new boiler plant, the electrical work and elevators.

Kitchen and pantry equipment, laboratory equipment, furnishings and the usual added incidentals met with when a building is enlarged will run the entire cost to about $1,100,000.

"The building committee of the board has done a fine job in the matter of bids," said Chairman Rowland. "Also, the co-operation of local builders in the matter has been most gratifying. We were helped considerably by this co-operation and the board is happy that the work is to be done by New Castle men."

"When the addition is completed Jameson Memorial hospital will be a complete, modern hospital unit, equipped with the most modern equipment possible and staffed with the best modern equipment possible and staffed by competent men and women. We believe New Castle and Lawrence county people are entitled to the best hospital care possible, and when the addition is ready for use it will be modern."

Prisoner In Ohio State Penitentiary Found To Be Leper

COLUMBUS, O., March 2.—(INS)—Governor Lausche said today he will commute the prison sentence of the first leper ever discovered in the Ohio penitentiary if that is necessary to insure the inmate's rapid removal to the national leprosy hospital at Carville, La.

State officials on all levels moved rapidly to get Ernest Goolsby, 55, of Akron, out of the penitentiary and away from the prison's 8,000 other inmates might develop about the possibility of being exposed to the dread disease. They also wanted to make sure he got proper treatment, which would be impossible in the penitentiary.

Has Neural Leprosy Dr. George L. Fite, public health officer of the U. S. Health department in Washington, confirmed yesterday afternoon that Goolsby, received January 17 from Summit county to serve a one-to-two-year term for shooting with intent to wound, had neural leprosy.

Goolsby was informed of his ailment and signed a consent to be transferred to the U. S. Marine hospital in Louisiana, the national treatment center for leprosy. He has been isolated since his arrival at the penitentiary.

Welfare Director J. H. Lamneck wrote to the governor explaining Goolsby could be taken from the prison by the Summit county courts or by an act of executive clemency.

Lausche told International News Service that the course which will most quickly achieve Goolsby's removal from the penitentiary and his hospitalization at Carville.

"If we can't get action from the judge at Akron, I will do it by appropriate action of executive clemency."

What U.S. Seeks In Big Four negotiation the U.S. seeks:

1. Loosening of the iron curtain to permit the free flow of information, goods and persons throughout Europe.

2. An effective agreement on disarmament, to enable all the world to devote its assets to improving the lot of mankind, particularly in underdeveloped areas.

3. Unification of Germany, but only on an equal basis with free elections supervised by neutral observers.

4. Demilitarization of the so-called Peoples State Police Force in East Germany, which the west charges is a quasi-military group being trained in warfare.

In past proposals for the unification of Germany, Russia has proposed that the 18 million persons in its zone have an equal voice with the 50 millions in the western zone. This has been rejected by the west.

tion for "hardship" cases and "in-equities," and for such "fringe" benefits as pensions and welfare funds.

To Work Out Details The economic stabilizer asked the wage board to work out the details for these changes, which would grant to labor most of its demands for modification of the wage formula.

But since labor's withdrawal from mobilization agencies left the board powerless to act, he specifically ordered a change in the formula to exempt the cost-of-living provisions of work contracts.

This was an emergency measure, and was taken at this time because under work contracts now in effect wages automatically move upward if the January 15 cost-of-living index, to be published next week, justifies an increase.

Administration officials were concerned over the possibility that widespread strikes would result if provision were not made for this wage rise to conform to a possible advance in the cost of living index.

ROAD CENTER OF HOENGSONG TAKEN

by the United Nations forces Gen. Douglas MacArthur warned that no easy victory is in sight.

In his Friday communique the supreme commander said the enemy "potential to defend somewhere near the 38th is unimpaired in spite of heavy current losses and the attrition of his supply lines."

The tough leathernecks of the First Marine Division climaxed a violent two-day struggle with the capture of Hoengsong, 50 miles east of Seoul.

International News Service War Correspondent Irwin Tress reported in a front dispatch that the devil dogs hacked their way to the top of Hills 303 and 208 on the west side of Hoengsong against terrific Chinese resistance.

Then the marines swarmed from the heights through the town and captured the bowl-like ridge to the north. Tress said there was little opposition in the town itself except from die-hard snipers.

Battle for Hills

The heated battle was for the two rugged, well-defended hills to the west. Relentless aid and artillery fire pounded the hills and then the marines dug out the enemy with bayonets and hand grenades in tooth-and-nail fighting.

The battle-hardened veterans spent Thursday night in a frigid forward foxholes under enemy fire rather than pulling back into a perimeter defense. Thus they were able to get the jump on the Reds when dawn came Friday.

Marines entering the town reported finding slain and buried bodies of U.N. soldiers who fell there when the Chinese recaptured the road hub three weeks ago.

The town has been the immediate focal point of U.N. attacks in central Korea since "Operation Killer" started.

West of Hoengsong, a Ninth Corps spokesman reported, South Korean troops in "a vicious well-executed bayonet charge" against Red forces gained more than a mile to straighten the UN line in this sector.

Seize Control of Hills

The Republic of Korea troops seized control of a series of hills on the right flank of the British 27th Brigade which advanced 1,500 yards and captured high ground where a large number of enemy dead were found.

Americans and South Koreans fighting for control of the Hoengsong-Pangnim lateral were meeting ever-stiffening resistance. The Second and Seventh Divisions reported carving out 2,000 yard gains in the area.

Communist counter-attacks were launched against ROK (Republic of Korea) troops southeast of Hoengsong where a Red battalion was thrown into the South Korean lines.

Frontline officers said the enemy was "showing increased determination to hold the ground he is now occupying."

At the east end of the Hoengsong-Pangnim lateral a Seventh Division patrol reached within 28 miles of Parallel 38 but withdrew to its own lines after meeting stiff resistance. Other Seventh Division patrols also found resistance tough.

On the Seventh's left Second Division elements rammed into stubbornly fighting Reds on the high ground north of the lateral. The second took the ground after a five-hour fight that lasted until nightfall.

The Second Division spent Thursday night beating off frantic Chinese charges which climaxed a bonanza attack in the early morning hours.

MAN CUTS FINGER

Wendell Morris, aged 30 years, of 131 Hillcrest avenue, a machinist employed by the United Engineering & Foundry Company, suffered a severe laceration of the right middle finger, when a casting fell on his finger while at work, Thursday evening. He received treatment at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Samuel Staats then held their attention with a review of the book "We Have Given Our Hearts Away" by Alice Miller Topping, which is to be released by a book-of-the-month club next month. It is the story of people who, through their desire for the material things of the world that is too much with us, find their lives confused and discover happiness only after their faith in God and themselves is restored. It was inspiring to the club members.

Mrs. Blaine Farver, Mrs. Robert Machie and Mrs. W. D. Morris served a delicious lunch to climax the evening.

RED CROSS NEEDS GENEROUS SUPPORT

Opening of the annual Red Cross fund-raising campaign is an event of unusual importance because of the vastly larger and new kind of role which that organization is called upon to play in this atomic age.

As a great civilian agency devoted to rescue work in peace or war the Red Cross has always been on hand to meet any disaster. Now, in addition to the familiar catastrophes, earthquakes, hurricanes, explosions, fires and famine, it must take a leading part in measures providing for rescue work in case of actual enemy attack on civilian populations.

To this end, the blood donor service it has organized on a nation-wide scale is an enormous undertaking, which must be expanded still further in the days ahead. And, in the meantime, the Red Cross must go on as before with all its past activities.

The Department of Defense and the National Resources Board has assigned to it, furthermore, well over three times as many duties as during the Second World War. It must train millions of men, women and children in first aid methods, home nursing techniques and as nurses' aides.

To help pay for these essential services the local chapter is seeking to raise $52,000 as its share of the national fund. The Red Cross has always carried a burden out of proportion to the funds with which it has had to work. It has succeeded in its humanitarian undertakings as well as it has only through extensive voluntary efforts of many of its workers and the use of all possible devices to get the most good out of every penny spent.

Now it is seeking to meet a still larger responsibility with funds not much greater than sought in the past. Lawrence Countians should respond by giving generously with amounts in keeping with the job which the Red Cross must do for us all.

HOW TO GET A HEADACHE

There are many ways of getting a headache, but some are more effective than others. Listening to the same commercials is enough to promote one, but maybe they're just drumming up business.

But enough of frivolity. A serious social scientist—those boys are never anything but—has gone and questionnaired more than 6,000 persons to find out whether they have headaches. And now, of course, he has compiled and classified the results.

Married folks, he reports, are 61 per cent headachy, which shouldn't surprise anyone. But the unmarried score 70 per cent, which appears to mean that they have something like one chance in eight of curing their headaches by getting married.

More than 70 per cent of college graduates have headaches, compared to less than 39 per cent incidence of headaches at the Dogpatch level of education. Using one's head evidently isn't the way to keep it from hurting.

On a descending scale, the study revealed that medical students, executives and professional workers have lots of headaches, but physicians (45 per cent) make out even better than manual laborers and farmers (55 and 50 per cent, respectively). Young folks, it appears, have four times as many headaches as old folks.

There is one point the survey skipped—the score for people who give such tests.

BETTER DAYS AHEAD

Edwin B. Moran, Chicago credit expert, in a recent speech said the prospect of things to come to American business are reassuring. He did not attempt to minimize the sacrifices which will be necessary because of the present preparedness program and admitted that tough times are ahead for civilian production.

There will be backbreaking taxes, cumbersome controls and allocations which are certain to reduce sales.

But the Chicago expert predicts these conditions will last not more than 15 months. In the meantime the nation's economy will have been readjusted to peacetime conditions and a buyer's market will have returned.

There is widespread tendency by American citizens to take the short view concerning present conditions. But conditions which now cause concern will pass in time. Mr. Moran's advice to keep sights trained on the future is sound.

BEHIND IRON CURTAIN

It is difficult to escape the feeling that all is not so well as it was behind the iron curtain. Dictator Tito, of course, is becoming more independent and it may be possible soon to label him as an active instead of passive enemy of Moscow. Cases of individual "disloyalty" are cropping up with greater frequency in states like Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

What is happening in China is any man's guess, but reports of persistent and troublesome underground activity have been confirmed by the Peiping government's own admission.

As no opportunity is presented for a factual inquiry into affairs in the Soviet and its satellites it may be wise to discount some of the rumors reaching the western world. For the same reason, conditions could be worse than they are depicted.

While it is theoretically impossible to fool all of the people all of the time, slick politicians usually fool enough of them to get a plurality.

Britain And Italy To Confer

Another international conference of potentially great importance is scheduled to begin in London shortly and unless hampered by the latest French cabinet crisis may contribute in large measure to Western Europe's defense.

Premier Alcide De Gasperi and Foreign Minister Count Carlo Sforza are to consult with Prime Minister Clement Attlee and his aides. It will be a general, overall probe of economic, financial and military matters of joint importance to both Great Britain and Italy.

The conference will have one unusual and perhaps beneficial aspect.

No Fixed Agenda
There will be no fixed agenda. Ideas and proposals will be tossed into the hopper and the Italian representatives will be free to air all of their post-war grievances, of which there are many.

De Gasperi and Sforza met a few weeks ago with Premier Rene Pleven of France and his Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, whose government has just resigned in an electoral reform struggle.

Both France and Italy previously had announced fixed objectives—pooling of resources and unification on both a spiritual and material scale. Thus the sessions at St. Margharite on the Italian Riviera were little more than pleasant formalities. They did much, however, to erase the memories of the tragic day in 1940 when the late and unlamented Benito Mussolini chose to "stab France in the back."

The major issue at the London meeting probably will be Italian rearmament.

Somewhat Paradoxical
The situation is a somewhat paradoxical one.

Great Britain, working in collaboration with the United States on detailed plans to strengthen the Mediterranean again in possible Soviet aggression, definitely needs Italy in the defense scheme.

The Italian peninsula lies athwart the inland sea at its midway point. Italian naval bases and airfields are vital to complete an impenetrable network of barriers from Turkey in the east to Gibraltar on the west.

But Italy's strength in arms is vigorously controlled by the post-war peace treaty. Her once mighty navy now has only two battleships, four cruisers and a few smaller vessels. Besides, she is not in a financial position to spend the money required to put herself on

Enormous Resources

But in the north there are enormous resources in hydro-electric power and it seems likely that the British may propose some new and far-reaching cooperative steps to gear this industrial strength and wealth to the fortunes of all Western Europe.

Italy has become of increasing importance to all Europe since De Gasperi and Sforza, with the aid of two-fisted and determined Interior Minister Mario Scelba, reduced Italian Communism from the most powerful Red force in Western Europe to a weak organization that is now facing an internal crisis.

But even though Italian Communism has lost much of its original vitality, Italy's problems have not ended.

There is much hardship, particularly in the countryside, a fact not apparent to tourists who see only the immortal glory and the sometimes strained gaiety of Rome.

Popular Dissatisfaction
And there is considerable popular dissatisfaction over the international picture.

Thousands if not millions of Italians feel they are still being held to account for the sins of their fascist leadership and maintain that until the second world war is wiped off the statute books by treaty revision and the like, Italy can never do justice to herself, to Europe and to the world.

Both De Gasperi and Sforza are effective speakers and they will have cogent arguments to offer in their country's behalf.

If the French crisis is soon solved, the Anglo-Italian meeting should take place in a promising atmosphere. A pilotless France could prove an at least temporary stumbling block. But in any case the problems and desires of Italy will be brought sharply to the fore.

Solutions, however, could mean much to European stability.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

ONLY CHILD MISSES THINGS
There are many grand and lovely grownups who were only children. Some of them are happily married, some are very good parents.

These successful persons must have made up in some way for what they probably lost from having no brothers and sisters.

Parents and Friends
What is the nature of this probable loss? Normally, the only child continues as the center of attention of his parents and his friends. Of course, the first child is the only child until a brother or sister arrives. Then he loses this central place, as the new baby or added brothers and sisters require attention just for their normal care and management. Often, alas, the new baby becomes the family center of attention, in which case the older child, who formerly was the only child, feels neglected and suffers deep pangs of jealousy and may become, for a while at least, a problem child.

With the various problems growing out of inevitable jealousy when a second or additional child arrives, and for an indefinite period thereafter, you are familiar. You have read about many of such problems reported in this column. You know, too, that the older child, as first child, is often the one who is most easily hurt by the arrival of a second or later child also may have many jealousies of an older child.

Parental Guidance
Under reasonably wise parental guidance these jealousies are reduced and each of several children in a family gradually learns to adapt himself even to enjoy almost ideal emotional security in the family.

Now some parents, seeing all this usual contentions and strife and confusion among several children growing up together in the family, suppose that by having only one child they would escape these annoyances. As one mother wrote: "Having read of so many problems of jealousies and quarreling in families of two or more children, I have resolved that we shall have no more than one child."

Only Child
Some parents might have fewer annoyances with an only child for some years at least than if they had more children. They might also have fewer cares and financial worries. But the only child will, as a rule, more often have what he wants than he wants. And this easily grows in selfishness.

This only child, having no playmates near his age in his home and having no practice at meeting denials and at giving up and sharing with one or more brothers and sisters, can hardly have good training in getting along happily with other children now and with contemporaries as he grows older.

Parents of the only child may not themselves gain in personality and character qualities as much as if they had more children, since they hardly will have as much exercise in making personal adaptations, even personal sacrifices.

Yet, by exercising great skill and wisdom, some parents with an only child may compensate for the normal lack to them and their child in various ways and gain for themselves and the child even finer personality and character values than many other parents and children enjoy.

Thirty-six states have made it a law that a President of the United States can't hold the office for more than two terms. . . . 48 states too probably be the final total. It's all very fine . . . but fifty years too late. . . . at least twenty-five years too late. The conversation now concerns the present President and what he will do when his present term expires. Some say he will voluntarily observe the new law. . . . others say he will run. Maybe some critics ought to write him a letter in language that he is prone to understand.

But let's talk about another kind of wind. . . . Yesterday was the day the lion was scheduled to make an appearance. . . . and he did too. . . . according to my book. . . . It was early afternoon when the wind began to blow. . . . after a terrific rain storm of the early morning hours. . . . Walking the streets of the downtown area. . . . was like making headway through a sand storm.

March will bring good weather. . . . that which the preceding months didn't. . . . but along with the good weather comes the headaches of what-to-do. . . . with the streets. They need attention badly and our community is not alone in that situation. . . . Will there be enough black top material to refinish them all?

Looking forward to spring brings an idea that the city sign department might like to kick around (which they probably will do) . . . making direction signs that will usher folks to the various parks in the town. Before you know it the picnic will be in vogue. . . . and there are people, lots of 'em who don't know where Gaston Park is. . . . or other retreats suitable for picnic.

Local stores could help the dust situation some if they would take time to wet down the sidewalk in front of their place of business. . . . and this to be followed up by flushing of the streets proper, by the city. We have a truck for this purpose and now really isn't too early to start such a chore.

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

New Aspect On War In Korea

WASHINGTON, March 2.—From General Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo the Pentagon has received word which puts a new aspect on the war in Korea. In a message sent the other day MacArthur said in effect that from here on out the net result can only be a prolonged stalemate.

In his view, therefore, the moment has come to try to bring about some sort of settlement with communist China. As MacArthur phrased it, the time is now here for the politicians and the diplomats to begin in.

The Pacific commander based his judgment, in part at least, on his own over-all estimate of Chinese casualties since communist China intervened in the Korean war. His estimate of the number knocked out by American arms and disease is close to 700,000. Included in this staggering total are what were considered among China's best-trained and equipped divisions. MacArthur's report confirms all the stories out of China about the severe strain put on that war-ravaged country's very limited medical services.

Destruction From Within
But as always when communism is confronted with a successful challenge to the use of naked power, there is the alternative of infiltration and destruction from within.

It is here that there is a true concern for America's point of focal strength in the Pacific—Japan.

Behind the announcement that two partially-trained National Guard divisions—from California and from Oklahoma—were going to Japan was a lot more than met the eye. Originally, the request from MacArthur's headquarters was for four divisions. This put an extremely tough decision up to defense officials in Washington since trained units simply were not to be found.

The reason for the urgency was MacArthur's fear that the northernmost island of the Japanese chain, Hokkaido, was put in great jeopardy by Russian action. Next door to Hokkaido is the island of Sakhalin, all of which was restored to Russia under the Yalta agreement, half of it having been taken by Japan after her victory in the Russo-Japanese war in 1904. As told in this space six weeks ago, the Soviets have moved four additional divisions into Sakhalin.

Additional Threat
Since then further intelligence reports indicate an additional threat. Sakhalin is to the west and north of the Jap islands. To the east and north are the Kuril islands which also went to Russia. Not only have the Soviets moved into those that were ceded at Yalta, but also into islands that while virtually unoccupied have been in undisputed possession of Japan over a long period.

The best intelligence estimates now are that the danger of a communist attack on Japan is comparatively small since Moscow knows that this would mean an all-out conflict. The stress is put on the threat of infiltration backed by Russian military strength.

There enters in here the appraisal of the scope and influence of the communist conspiracy in Japan proper. General MacArthur tends to rate it down as comparatively negligible. But others give it much more importance and this last is the impression brought back by John Foster Dulles from his trip to Japan for President Truman to prepare the way for a peace treaty.

Infiltration Menace
With the infiltration of men and arms across the narrow gaps separating Hokkaido from Russian-held islands the menace of communism within could be most serious. This is the kind of challenge difficult to meet with American military power. The Japanese police force is not equipped to meet it, being without sufficient arms or organization. It is believed that Dulles will recommend expanding and equipping this force so that it can cope with the internal situation.

But in his recommendations he will put greatest emphasis both for Japan and for other critical Pacific areas on the need to rebuild the economic structure in order to bring peace and stability. That is why he will take a strong stand for the necessity of permitting the Japs to establish the shipping industry again, even though, as has already been indicated, this proposal will meet the opposition of the British and perhaps other commonwealth countries. They are fearful that their dollar-earning ships will meet cut-throat competition.

The internal menace of communism is especially serious in the Philippines. There a government that is weak and disorganized and too often corrupt has been unable to put down the rebellion of the Hukbs, who have aid and some leadership from communists. Quick and effective action is vital both on the economic and military fronts if the situation in the Philippines is to be saved.

Nothing could illustrate better the dual threat of communism and the dual responsibility so that the armed strength of communism, as Korea has so painfully shown, is a necessity. But so is the wise direction of economic rehabilitation in areas that have been devastated by war.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

In the middle of this talk about whether Mr. Truman will try a parachute drop. . . . Just can't keep up with this man.

We're wondering about him running and he's wondering about jumping.

But it would be an unusual way to enter the convention hall. . . . certainly coming through the skylight would attract more attention than coming in on the ground floor.

It is true that most candidates come in with their hopes flying high, but usually they never get their boom off the ground.

I don't know whether Senator Tom Connally has thought about parachuting, but he sure sounds like he's ready to take the controls of a jet and fly it to Europe himself if he can't get an army over there in the next 10 minutes.

Tom's acting real aggressive for a man of his age who doesn't personally plan to fight anybody.

Golly, he's more impatient than some of the young men who are going to get that all-expense cruise to Europe free with long stopover privileges.

Bible Thought
And he said unto them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the winds and the sea; and there was a great calm.—Matthew 8: 26.
Mental illness confines one out of every 22 Americans to hospital some time in his or her life.

For Better Or For Worse?

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 2.—Who is winning the Great Debate? The believers in a preventive war with Russia are winning it, for better or worse.

It is not possible to make a roll call of these believers. The idea of preventive war is more a state of mind than a group of men. It is easier to recognize than it is to identify. The state of mind which compromises the ideology of preventive war runs in part as follows:

War-mongering in modern America is not to be confused with the old-fashioned urge to go forth and conquer. War-making has become a prelude to peace-making. A meditated attack on Russia would not be for the guilty purpose of conquering Russia. It would be for the laudable purpose of preventing Russia from conquering us. Moreover the Kremlin can readily escape from the fate of war by easing up on world pressures. Anything that happens to Russia, she has brought upon herself.

Almost As Much 'Occupied'
Western Europe is almost as much an "occupied" continent as it was under Hitler. Forces of fear are ruling that "cradle of Christianity." A tyranny of terror blockades the minds of men in these once-free nations. The populations are bowed down under the remote control of Communist threats, and that is why Europe has not recovered from World War II. There are many political and economic reasons why a free Europe is in the best interests of the United States. Therefore, we have practically the same reasons for "liberating" Europe with an Eisenhower Army today as we had several years ago.

Any troops we send to Europe constitute an act of preventive war. Soldiers are trained and maintained for only one purpose—to fight—and it must be assumed that these troops are going to Europe for that purpose. But many new concepts of self-preservation are justified in the Atomic Age. Mr. Truman is too much of a humanitarian to admit it, but his proposal of troops to Europe is clearly based on somebody's concept of war-to-prevent-war. The final vote of the Senate, upholding Mr. Truman, will merely confirm the practical fact that one way to fight fire is with fire.

Great Debate Started
The Great Debate started as a contest between the Administration and Congress, but a third group has taken over—and already won—a much more important argument. This argument, although never spelled out, is implicit in the testimony of the decisive witnesses, five generals and one admiral—Eisenhower, Marshall, Bradley, Collins, Vandenberg and Sherman. These military men all know the value of initiative in attack. They know that World War III can be won by following our own timetable and can be lost by following Russia's. These military professionals are not thinking entirely of defense when they urge troops for Europe as soon as possible.

The Administration has not thought it wise to be completely frank with the American public or even with the Senate. For that reason the Defense Secretary mentioned a small force—six divisions—for purposes of winning some doubtful Senators. This is obviously not a large enough force to defend Europe or even to deter a Russian attack if Stalin is seriously contemplating one. But it may be enough to inspire Europe to make some efforts, and it is all that the Senate would permit as a beginner.

Not Best Sort Of Foreign Policy
Preventive war is not the best sort of foreign policy, but it is the only one we have left. We tried diplomacy. In 1945 Mr. Truman went to Potsdam himself and sat down with Stalin in an effort to establish permanent peace. The President is willing to see Stalin anytime the Russian premier comes to North America. Meanwhile three Secretaries of State—Byrnes, Marshall and Acheson—have constantly ferried back and forth across the Atlantic in search of a settlement with Russia. The door must be left open, as at the pending Big Four conference of foreign ministers, but the State Department is not offering the slightest hope. In stark reality, the only peace lies in victory; victory lies in war.

Such a bring to the summary to an arbitrary end, are some of the ideas which the Great Debate has engendered. No Senator and no witness is going to have the honest gall to speak out frankly in favor of a preventive war. But there is a growing awareness on Capitol Hill that we are taking a step in that direction by moving troops to the fighting area. And there is some hope that Russia will understand this and beat some sort of retreat.

Meanwhile many Senators, who would never vote for a meditated war, are going to vote for troops to Europe. They are bold to this extent—that they're willing to creep, but not to leap, into an inevitable conflict.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

It must be awful to be rich! You can hardly open your newspaper without reading about the terrible ordeals the very rich have to go through.

And, when you have a little chat with a millionaire you almost cry as you listen to his troubles.

Just yesterday I talked to one of these unhappy millionaires. He is about to sail for Europe, for some skiing in the Tyrol, some shopping in Paris, some museum-visiting in Italy.

You have no idea what he is up against—and his wife is suffering even more.

He is practically under the doctor's constant care, because the boat sails in less than a week and he hasn't got all his visas yet. Imagine!

They gave him a cabin on the boat that is much too small for all his and his wife's luggage, and he has been fighting with the steamship company for better accommodations. The wife is almost a nervous wreck.

Wherever you look the rich are in trouble. They are insulted by everybody. They are called "capitalists" and "ruling circles" and "Wall Street bankers".

This same millionaire I mentioned above tells me he can't even rule his wife or his children. And he has never been in Wall Street in his life.

Can you blame him for being unhappy?

Talk to any millionaire—if you know one—and you will find an unhappy man.

Talk to any millionaire's wife and you will find an unhappy woman.

And such important troubles! A couple of weeks ago I went to the Dog Show in New York's Madison Square Garden.

The traffic laws were not made to be enforced, they were made to be obeyed. Ignorance of the law excuses no one, and if you violate the law through ignorance of the law or through wilful disregard of the law, you are inviting a suspension of your operating privileges. Play it safe, obey the law.

Some Residents Start Clean-Up

With spring-like weather existing many local residents have commenced cleaning away debris which gathered in their yards during the cold months.

Annually, the state of Pennsylvania sponsors a clean-up and paint-up week in this state, and it is likely that Richard I. Davis, health director of the city, will request a clean-up week here simultaneously with the state.

'Barn Yard' Economics Are Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., March 2.—We must start with the dictionary explanation of INFLATION. It is the name for a rise in prices due to demand exceeding production. Please keep this definition in mind as we follow through why a war causes prices to rise.

What About Taxes?

We complain about federal taxes; but even these have a cheerful side, as 90 per cent of all such taxes are dependent upon profits—either on business profits or personal income from dividends, etc. In other words, unless the government allows us profits, there is no tax. If management is not allowed to increase wages and prices to offset any further tax increases, then production falls off and costs increase under our present "mass-production" system. Then more money must be raised by more taxes and the government starts to "kill the geese which lay the golden eggs". When this occurs, taxes are raised no more. The government then begins to print money and sell bonds. This always increases the people's purchasing power faster than increasing the supply of goods, and results in still higher prices.

Raising An Army

The next financial curse of war comes from pulling five million men and women of the best producers away from normal industry—putting half in training camps and half in factories making war supplies. This not only reduces the production of civilian supplies, but these people must be housed, clothed and fed, by being paid real money. If you will refer now to our definition of inflation, you will see that this shift of employment will further reduce the supply of consumer goods without reducing purchasing power. This makes for still further price increases.

Then you ask: "Why not put a lid on wages and prices?" The answer is that a lid on wages results in decreased production per dollar of wages. Thus, little is gained thereby. A lid on prices, on the other hand, develops "black markets", with resultant graft, inefficiency and dishonesty. From these "black market" operators, the government gets no taxes. Although such "ceilings" are popular politically, they are no real solution to the problem. Higher prices are inevitable.

Deficit Financing Coming

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Honest Praise

Children appreciate honesty and sincerity. Tommy Roberts spoke for them when he said to his mother, "Did you hear that mother praising her boy's picture? It wasn't that wonderful. I am glad you tell me what you really think. If you told me every time I finished something, 'That's wonderful!' I wouldn't trust you anymore."

Tommy was a member of a junior art class held at the museum. He had heard and seen enough of the way grownups talk about children's work to become an expert on parent's peculiarities. Naturally, children like approval. They appreciate praise. But more important is that this praise and approval be sincere. Sometimes we parents are so proud of our offspring that we may over-praise what they do without being at all sincere. We're just not able to see things in perspective. But unless a youngster gets a sincere and intelligent reaction to what he is doing, it is going to be hard for him to learn to distinguish between the good and the less good.

This business of praise is a nice art. We all need it at some time or other. But there can be as Tommy shows us, too much of a good thing.

forced. Please tell me if I should write to her and what to say."

Answer: If you are living near her, you and your husband should call on her. If distance prohibits such a call, write her a letter welcoming her into the family and inviting her to visit you.

This you should do whether or not you approve of the marriage.

Question: (1) Who pays for the flowers for the bridesmaids, maid-of-honor and the ushers? (2) Is it at all possible for the maid-of-honor and the bridesmaids to wear white shoes instead of the usual silver or gold in a Spring wedding? (3) Are pink and blue the only two colors the maid-of-honor may wear?

Answer: (1) The groom, usually. (2) They should wear shoes to match or to harmonize with their dresses.

(3) Indeed, no, she may wear whatever she and the bride choose.

Question: At her wedding reception are the bride and her parents supposed to help pay for the hall, refreshments, beverages, etc.? Is it a half-and-half proposition or should this expense fall on the groom and his parents?

Answer: The bride's family should pay the entire expenses of the reception.

NOISY NIGHTCAP

OXFORD, Miss.—Lightning set off the city's fire alarm siren while townsfolk were getting ready for bed. The siren, atop a huge water tank, sounded for 10 minutes before it was disconnected.

February Fire Loss Is Small

Fire damage during the month of February was extremely light. Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink revealed today in his monthly report. Total damage amounted to $2,345, of which $2,000 was on buildings and $325 on contents. There were 32 alarms answered, of which there were for bonfires and grass fires, four were for autos and two were false. There were 15 still alarms. The valuation of buildings involved was $393,000 and contents $137,500, so the loss in comparison to property involved was extremely light.

In addition five tanks of oxygen were used in resuscitation work. Involved in these fires were five dwellings, two manufacturing plants, six mercantile establishments, a hotel and church.

The king cobra, world's largest poisonous snake, has been known to reach a length of 18½ feet.

Easter Seal Campaign Is Given Impetus

Positive plans to aid the handicapped individuals of Lawrence county was the main topic of the regular monthly meeting of the Lawrence County Society for Crippled Children and Adults Thursday night at the Y.M.C.A.

The board of the newly chartered society also heard the welcome news that the Lawrence County Medical Society had voted its approval of "The Easter Seal Agency."

Actual programs of rehabilitation, orthopedic and cure work for the handicapped will get underway as soon as funds are made available through the Easter Seal campaign now being conducted in the county.

Letters in Mail
President John McGrath told the group that more than 25,000 letters containing Easter Seals are now in the mail. Provisions have been made to handle the counting of the funds at the Citizens National Bank.

Other committee reports were heard at the meeting.

Seven persons were voted to membership on the board. They are Mrs. Donald F. Copson, Mrs. Arthur B. Foster, Arthur Graham, Harry Mack, Jr., Rev. Fr. Stephen J. Kolcum, Carl F. Paisley and Joe Jordan.

A special guests for the meeting was Creston C. Herold, field representative of the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Herold offered advice on several proposals and told the gathering to remember two important parts of their constitution. These are: (1) The county society can aid anyone that has been handicapped by accident, disease or birth. However, (2) It should not duplicate the service work of any other organization agency.

The Lawrence County Society for Crippled Children and Adults is now slightly over a year old. This is the first year that it has sponsored the Easter Seal Sale in the county. It operates on the philosophy that the most tragic lot in life is not to be crippled but rather to be considered useless. It is not the handicap that counts, but rather how it affects the individuals life.

Support of the current Easter Seal Campaign will make life much easier and fuller for many of Lawrence county's handicapped.

Report Turkey Asks United States To Join Mutual Pact

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(INS)—Turkey was reported today to have asked the United States to join the 1939 British-Turkish-French mutual aid pact.

A State Department source said that the Turks indicated U. S. participation in the pact would assure peace in the Mediterranean. The source added that the U. S. is making a thorough study of the request.

Turkish Ambassador F. C. Erkin was reported to have laid the proposal before U. S. officials at the request of his government.

It was recalled in Washington that Air Force Secretary Finletter recently visited the Mediterranean area and spent some time in Turkey.

Finletter told newsmen yesterday that the U. S. expects to send jet airplanes to Turkey under a military assistance agreement.

First Report In YWCA Drive

Members Totaled
299 At Luncheon

At the first luncheon report meeting of the YWCA Enrollment held Thursday a total of 299 women was reported, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Howard Kirk, Jr., chairman of the Membership Committee.

Mrs. Kirk presided during the entire meeting ably assisted by her co-chairman, and Mrs. James A. Gillespie.

Strive For Honors

A turkey, beautifully browned, will play a most important part in all the report meetings. This turkey, a paper mache' one, will be presented each day on a large silver tray to the group getting the largest percentage of renewals. Thursday the turkey went to the team of the First Presbyterian church of which Mrs. W. H. Humphrey is captain.

Mrs. Kirk expressed appreciation to the ladies of the First Methodist church for the fine luncheon prepared under the supervision of Mrs. M. R. Hornung.

In the old files of the YWCA are found cards dating back as far as 1932 of women who belonged at one time or another but who do not belong now. In order to reach the goal of 2500, great stress is being placed on renewals, not only of current members but of all those people whose names are in the old files.

President Presides

Accordingly, Mrs. James W. Moorehead, president of the YWCA, led the group in singing "Renewals," a clever little song written to the tune of "Polly, Wolly, Doodle All the Day."

Lists according to churches have been made from the old files and given to the captains. Workers may see these lists. They contain fine prospects.

Mrs. Esther Eakin, director of adult program showed a beautiful film in technicolor taken at Camp East Brook last summer.

For next week, the special program for the report meeting will be given by the Elm street Y. W. C. A. branch.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Farmer Cullman wrote to poultry dealer, "Sir! The crate you shipped those hens in was so dilapidated, it fell apart while I was bringing it home from the railroad depot, and all the hens escaped. I only rounded up ten of them. Kindly send refund." Back came a letter reading, "Congratulations on your vigilance. There were only six hens in the crate. Bill for additional hens is enclosed."

When Paulette Goddard vacationed in Mexico City last winter, she was squired about town by one of its richest and most eligible bachelors. On the eve of her departure for Hollywood, he announced, "I would like to give you an example of our native products as a memento of your visit." Miss Goddard's prompt suggestion was, "How about a Mexican Cadillac convertible?"

Garden Notes For 1951 Season

If garden tools were neglected over winter, take care of them now, using a rust remover and oiling them. Get the lawn mower sharpened.

Asparagus starts growth so early in the season that digging the winter mulch into the bed should be done as soon as frost is out of the ground, lest the young stalks be injured in the process.

Regardless of what weather may follow, at the earliest possible date and while they are dormant, plant shade trees and dormant roses.

Herbaceous perennials, especially in the rock garden, are often severely damaged by alternate freezing and thawing at this season. They should be kept mulched until they start satisfactory growth.

Rugosa roses, hybrid rugosas and all other large bush roses may now have the old canes removed and the younger growth shortened or thinned out. Hybrid perpetual and polyantha roses may be cut back a little and have all dead and broken branches removed, but the hybrid tea roses should not be pruned until much later.

Fruit trees, berry bushes or strawberry plants which were set out last fall should be checked to see if frosts have heaved them out of the ground. If the roots have been exposed, firm them back into the soil immediately to prevent further damage.

Any package of plants received from a nursery, which has become dried out in transit should not be discarded. Spread out the contents and cover all over, tops as well as roots, with damp soil for a week. If the plants plump out, then plant.

Mummified fruits and cankered branches should be cut from fruit trees and burned now before they spread disease spores.

Canna roots are best started in boxes or in large pots in a warm cellar or in an upstairs room rather than waiting until later in the season and planting them in the open ground. When well started, they may set out-of-doors.

Parsnips and salsify which have been left in the soil over winter should be dug now before they begin to grow again. Store them in a cool cellar.

Plan now to feed the soil which in turn is to feed you. Even though good home vegetable crops may grow without a fertilizer, the yield is bound to be considerably smaller than if the soil had been nourished.

In pruning fruit trees remember to remove branches which rub against one another, as well as any dead or broken branches.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER

SHOULDERS

Mom says that Dad has a good head on his shoulders but she likes her head to be there, too.

Dad says that it is pretty nice to have someone who knows all your faults and loves you just the same.

Good health seems to be more than just freedom from diseases. A sound mind in a sound body is pretty good.

Some healthy people seem to be rather miserable.

Health workers seem to be doing fairly well with smallpox, typhoid and diphtheria and other diseases. Perhaps they will have more time to think up ways to keep people comfortable and happy even if they are healthy.

Pope Pius XII Is Observed 75th Birthday

VATICAN CITY, March 2.—(INS)—Pope Pius XII celebrated his 75th birthday today and devoted himself to prayer and his normal round of duties as thousands of telegrams conveying felicitations from the great and humble of the earth poured into Vatican City.

The day also marked the 12th anniversary of the elevation of his holiness to the papacy.

Throughout the tiny papal state the yellow and white flags of the Vatican were unfurled in observance of the birthday.

The high point of the day, which the Pope does not actually celebrate in any special way because of his high office, came when members of his immediate family entered his private chapel to hear the leader of the Roman Catholic church say mass.

A formal celebration of his elevation will take place 10 days from now on the anniversary of his coronation as supreme pontiff. March 12 will be a Vatican holiday. Then there will be special services in the Sistine chapel in which the Pope will assist.

Vatican sources said that during the mass he celebrated today the Pope voiced a special prayer for peace.

Toastmaster introduced Rev. Ralph E. Hovencamp, pastor of Trinity Episcopal church, who delivered an inspiring address to the fathers and sons, his subject being, "Friendly Homes," which was educational, entertaining, and well received.

The boys quartet, composed of Russell Brown, Charles Kelso, Donald Ross, William Large sang several numbers, accompanied by Robert Hart. Prizes were awarded to the oldest father present, Frank L. Rudesill; John Schantz, the youngest; for most sons, Harry Wright; largest waist line, Joseph Phillips;

CHOOSE A GOOD LINE FOR YOUR FIGURE

Whatever type of outfit you select for the spring season, be sure to choose one with lines that are correct for your figure.

Whether you buy or make your clothes, it is important to know your own figure type and how to look for lines that will do the most for you. The wrong line can be just as unattractive for you as an unbecoming color.

Analyze your own figure type carefully and honestly before you start on your outfit. If you take courage to recognize it may be tall-thin, tall-stout, short-thin, short-stout, or average. To face the situation realistically is the first step in selecting becoming clothing. When you know the lines that will make your figure appear the way you wish to look and make the garments in becoming colors, you can be sure of always looking your best.

Here are a few hints for the different figure types:

Tall-thin persons can select crosswise lines, such as wide necklines, flaring collars and cuffs, yokes, gathered or pleated skirts, full or wide sleeves, and ruffles or flounces to make the figure appear less tall and thin.

Tall-stout figure types will need some lines going across to make the figure seem shorter. Some up and down emphasis, such as deep V necklines, center front lines like buttons, a seam, or pleat, will do this best.

Short-thin persons should wear lengthwise lines to make them appear taller with some fullness to make them look less thin. Short-stout persons want only lengthwise lines to make them appear taller and thinner than they really are.

Persons with an average figure can wear almost any line, but a balance of crosswise and up-and-down or lengthwise lines will probably be most desirable.

BALANCE WARDROBE WITH YOUR ACTIVITIES

Where you go, what you do, and the people you are with can help to determine the kinds of clothes you need.

The right clothes are important for the occasion. Besides creating a good appearance, your clothes should be practical, functional, and serviceable.

Consider first the clothes you need for the activity on which you spend most of your time. You want to look your best while you work. If you spend most of your time at home dress for it. Washable dresses can be colorful, attractive, easy to get into, and easy to launder.

Having the right clothes does not mean having a closet bulging with wearing apparel. Aim for a few well selected garments at a time, all in top-notch, wearing order. A few clothes can feel like many if you are basic in line, fabric and color. Basic fabrics, such as crepe and gabardine, are appropriate for many occasions.

Put your money in well-styled, long-wearing, go-everywhere suits, coats, and dresses. Clothes of good fabric with simple lines, perfectly suited to your figure and coloring, can give you variety unlimited. These basic garments can be dressed up or down for many different occasions. Use your imagination and make your individuality show with accessories.

A buying plan for your wardrobe will help you know most of your needs and prevent your making snap judgments. Many hurried shopping trips end with money gone and a white elephant. Give your wardrobe a little thought and plan in advance what will best suit your needs and desires.

WINTER COAT RESPONDS TO GOOD TREATMENT

Give your wool winter coat some extra attention as it will come in for its share of wearing yet this season. This season's coat might well be the one you will have for several years to come, so all the more need for its special care.

Reduce to a minimum the friction and strain in wearing to help your coat last longer and look better. When you must sit in your coat for any length of time, unbutton it and pull it up slightly in the back. If you are a strap-hanger, unbutton your coat to prevent unnecessary strain on it. If you drive a car, get in on the side nearest the wheel instead of sliding along the seat. To save wear on the neckline and to help keep it free of cream and powder, wear a scarf. The scarf also is an excellent accessory.

When you find the elbows are getting thin, reinforce with a lightweight fabric of the same color, putting the piece on the inside of the elbow. Carrying your handbag or packages under your arm rubs the nap off the coat. However, when you find a thin spot under the arm, reinforce as you do for elbows.

When your coat gets wet, shake it. If your coat is fur trimmed, shake the fur to restore its fluffiness. An electric fan will help to fluff up the fur. You may need to spank the fur with a ruler to fluff it. Never throw your coat over a chair; always hang it up.

LAWRENCE COUNTY ADAPTED TO GRASSLAND FARMING

Grassland farming fits in with Lawrence county agriculture, but to yield well it needs proper treatment just like any other crop.

Sod crops are a key to a successful crop rotation. They add organic matter to the soil, and get the soil in the right physical condition for making the best use of fertilizer. Grass draws upon the soil fertility to an even greater extent than grain crops, and one way to get a poor grass crop is through inadequate fertilization.

Too many pastures are not much better than exercise lots. Too many hayfields produce less than 1.5 tons of hay per acre, and much of that is of doubtful quality.

Solutions to these problems include: Better sources of legume and grass seeds, seed of higher potential yield, better combinations or association of grasses and legumes; changes in conventional haymaking practices and proper and timely applications of fertilizer.

In addition to producing one of the best crops on the farm, good sods perform an equally important function in preventing soil erosion, since saving the land from washing away is just as important as growing crops on it.

Plan Flagstone Along City Hall Sidewalk

Joseph F. Medure, in charge of municipal buildings, reports that flagstone will be laid between the present sidewalk and the curb in North Jefferson street, at the city building. At present it is a grass spot but people trample down the grass, hence installation of flagstone is proposed.

Pour Concrete For Streets Building

Andy Phales who has the foundation contract of the city for the new streets department structure in Shenango street, commenced pouring concrete for the footers Thursday. The structure is to be erected in Shenango street.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, March 2.—Betty Grabel wails that while her legs have danced her into fame and a fortune they have caused her considerable headaches too.

She was telling about them on the set of "Meet Me After The Show," the 20th Century-Fox romantic musical that also stars Macdonald Carey, Eddie Albert and Rory Calhoun as the men in her movie life.

"When winter comes around," says Betty, "I get goose pimples 50 to an inch! Everybody else stands around bundled up and there I am, in my ny-lons, shivering away. That's when I wish I were in a Joan Crawford picture, suffering in a mink in a nice, warm apartment.

Nice Looking
"It is not complimentary either when the man with the tape measure, who pulls it out from the camera to determine the focus, takes it to my knee instead of my face, just to be sure by knee's in focus."

And then when I start a picture, everybody sneaks a glance at my legs to see if they are still the same as they were the last time. Other actresses can gain a little and get by with it. But not me. I would get spanked verbally. The studio would want to know what I was trying to do. Ruin it? "There's the question, too, of handling fan mail. One fellow sent me a box of plaster paris with the request I make cast of my legs and send them back to him for a keepsake. I had to refuse. The time I put my legs in concrete at Grauman's Chinese Theater in Los Angeles, they almost had to chisel me out."

Betty's legs are very much in evidence in her new picture, despite the star's laments.

Sorta Mixed Up

Things are getting mixed up at Corrigan's ranch, 40 miles from Hollywood, where Allied Artists and Gene Autry are using the location property for pictures.

Gene Autry's "Flying A" company is making a western complete with Indians and cowboys and Allied Artists is shooting the period picture, "The Highwayman."

Off and on during these moments the King's Guard gallops into camera range of Autry's western and vice versa. Philip Friend,

Wanda Hendrix and Charles Coburn are galloping hither and yon in "The Highwayman."

Cub Pack Celebrates Anniversary Dinner At Walmo School

Cub pack 43 of Walmo held the blue and gold anniversary tureen dinner in the Walmo school Wednesday with parents and families attending as guests.

The cubs had decorated the room and tables with the blue and gold motif, and during the dinner a five-minute mum period was observed. Any violator was made to stand in front of the room.

Awards following the dinner were presented to the following boys by acting cubmaster William Grommes: wolf awards, Ray Glenn, Bobby Marquis, Alfred De-

Carbo and Bobby Kerestly; gold arrow awards, Bobby Kerestly and Bobby Marquis; silver arrow, Jerry Oppy; and bear awards to Dick Robinson and Jack Carlson.

Thomas Smathers, principal of the Neshannock township schools, was a special guest and assisted in the presentation of the awards. The next meeting of the pack will be March 28 at the Walmo school.

DO YOU—KNOW PIANOS?

Consider carefully the following question (and weekly questions to follow) before you select your new piano. No matter how attractive a piano may LOOK, it is the HIDDEN musical and mechanical qualities which make it a fine instrument, or an unsatisfactory one.

Q. Do all pianos require the same amount of tuning and service?

A. No. The more lasting quality built into a piano, the less tuning and service it will require. All pianos should be tuned periodically, but a piano that has been scientifically voiced and regulated at the factory will normally need no other adjustment for many years.

Q. Isn't a cheap piano good enough for my child to learn on?

A. Children learn faster on a piano that is musically right. Their pride in having a new, attractive, and high grade piano is a big factor in faster progress.

Sen. McCarthy Makes Denial

Denies Statements Made By Witness In Influence Probe

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The reported—and emphatically denied—race bait financing of Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., by a heavy government borrower eclipsed all other business today in the Senate influence peddling investigation.

E. Merl Young, husband of a White House stenographer, exploded the McCarthy story yesterday at the Fulbright subcommittee's hearings on influence and favoritism in the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

Young, accused of selling his influence in high places, asserted that he saw Carl Strandlund, president of the Lustron Housing Corp., lend McCarthy "a lot of money" at the 1949 Preakness Handicap at Pimlico, Md., and then "tear up the checks" McCarthy gave him in repayment.

Strandlund, whose now bankrupt firm borrowed $37,500,000 from RFC, immediately followed Young on the witness stand to deny that any such thing occurred. Both men were under oath.

Strandlund also testified that Young gave him the impression that he was in close touch with President Truman and "conspired" with government officials to seize control of Lustron.

Strandlund said that RFC Director Walter Dunham was one of the persons with whom Young "conspired" to take over the company for "personal gain."

The company president said flatly there was no truth in Young's McCarthy story and offered his own version of the incident.

A short time later McCarthy, at Bethesda Naval hospital after a sinus operation, also denied the story.

The senator said he wrote a $100 check to Strandlund to provide cash for "two young lawyers" who were with him, and that the check was cashed by the housing executive and would be put in the subcommittee's records today. McCarthy said the only check torn up was a $50 check, which was included in the larger one.

Chairman Fulbright (D) Ark., verified that there was such a check.

This matched Strandlund's version of the incident, except that Strandlund thought it had occurred at the Laurel, Md., track.

Streets Sweeper In Operation Last Night

City streets sweeper was operated in the downtown business section last night according to street department reports. Some of the dirt was wet frozen and could not be swept up, it is stated.

Beatty's Lion Makes Another Attack On Tiger In Circus

DETROIT, March 2. — (INS) — For the second time in ten days Clyde Beatty's killer lion, "Prince" savagely attacked a tiger.

When Clyde Beatty's famous animal act opened with the Shrine Circus in Detroit 10 days ago "Prince" clawed a female tiger to death before a terrified, gaping audience.

Last night the "King of the Beasts" again took out his wrath on a tiger half his size, but this time he was thwarted in his attempt to kill.

Before Beatty and his aides could separate the snarling beasts, however, Prince had inflicted severe wounds on his latest victim.

Order Banning Use Of Natural Rubber Delayed Two Weeks

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(INS)—The government today postponed for two weeks an order banning or limiting the use of natural rubber in the 40,000 products made by the rubber industry.

At the same time, the national production authority increased the March rubber allocation 1,500 tons over the 88,500 tons made available for non-defense use in February.

The NPA announced that its rubber limitation order which bans natural rubber in more than 100 products, will become effective March 15 instead of March 1 as previously announced.

The postponement was decided "to give rubber manufacturers more time in which to revise production schedules and make technical adjustments."

Humane Society Directors Meet

Common-Law Wife Is Fatally Shot

SCRANTON, Pa., March 2. — (INS) — Stanley Serafin, 51, was charged today with fatally shooting his common-law wife last night as she was telephoning in her Scranton taproom.

Police quoted Serafin as saying "I did it and I'm proud of it." The victim was Sophie Zymbolski, 41, operator of the Penn Cafe in Central City, and a divorcee.

Witnesses told Police Chief Leo Ruddy that the tavern was crowded when Serafin walked in. They said he walked over and fired two pistol shots into Mrs. Zymbolski's head while she bent over the telephone.

Serafin, who lived in an apartment over the tavern with Mrs. Zymbolski, fled but was captured three hours later near the taproom.

Reid's Idea On Information Gets Approval

Eben L. Reid's idea of refusing industrial, utility or transportation information to unknown persons has caught on over the country.

Mr. Reid is the executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association. Recently he suggested to the board of directors that too many requests for information were coming in from persons who seemed to have little reason for asking, and who did not say why they wanted the information.

Direct Refusal
The board then passed a resolution refusing such information unless the person asking, identified himself and told why he wanted the information.

Notice of this action was sent to the United States Chamber of Commerce. To date letters of approval have been received from the national chamber, the state chamber, the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, and the national association of secretaries of Chambers of Commerce.

"A legitimate request for information will be honored immediately," said Mr. Reid, "but we do not intend to send a detailed description of our industries, utilities and transportation system to persons who might want it for some potential enemy."

Recently a request was received which contained about eight or nine pages. It was a request for every conceivable bit of information about New Castle, its industries, its utilities, its transportation, weather conditions, and a bale of other questions. It would have taken days to get the information together and before answering it Mr. Reid did a little investigating.

It developed the request was not from an industry looking for a location, but a man who was attending school in a New England city and had no connection with industry.

Members of the Rose Avenue P. T. A. met recently at the school, with Mrs. Al Jones, president, conducting business. Mrs. Irwin, vice president, read the P. T. A. prayer, with the secretary's report by Mrs. William McKee and treasurer's report by Mrs. Clark.

Mrs. Samuel Rashid was in charge of the evening's program with group singing led by Miss Ada Tillia. The Rose avenue chorus, under the direction of Miss Tillia, sang two numbers, "Mighty Like A Rose," and "Symphony". Mrs. Davis was as the piano.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 2.—(INS)—Two Hartford school teachers were killed yesterday when their car plunged off a 45-foot bridge to the ground, and police said today the cause of the accident remains a mystery. ## PMTA Dinner To See Crowd

This year's Ladies' Night dinner of the Lawrence county chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association will probably be the banner event in a long list of successes.

Samuel A. Mooney, general chairman of the dinner said today the reservations already exceed the number present at the 1950 dinner and requests are coming in from adjoining counties for reservations.

May Limit Size
In order that the crowd may be contained in the dining room of the Cathedral it may be necessary to shut off sales before the night of the dinner, March 10, Mr. Mooney said. The dining room will hold about 1000.

The speaker this year is Cal D. Johnson of Washington, D. C., a former congressman from Illinois. Prior to that he was a member of the Illinois General Assembly and before that a member of the St. Clair County Board of Supervisors in Illinois.

As a congressman he disclosed and forced the abandonment of the UNRRA Farm Machinery program under which approximately half a million pieces of farm machinery were to be shipped to Europe. He also disclosed and forced the abandonment of the program under which the United States was paying Peruvians to reduce their cotton acreage.

A good floor show will be seen at the dinner, there will be favors and prizes, and the program seems to indicate a grand evening.

Trees Strangled To Better Yield

CENTRALIA, Wash. (INS)—Trees are "strangled" on Western Washington tree farms to "scare" them into increasing cone and seed production.

Paul Lauterback, head of the Weyerhaeuser Timber company research department at Centralia, reports the experiment is not yet advanced enough to report any results. He said the method of strangling trees was first tried on forest trees by Swedish foresters 12 years ago although the idea was used on orchard trees in 1800. "Distress seeding," as Lauterback calls it, stimulates seed and cone output of parent trees selected for their form and growth qualities. It also produces more cones on trees in poorly stocked areas and thickens the stand.

The tree thinks it is dying when the bark's inner layer is damaged by partial girdling or the clawing of wild animals. Its reaction is a last gasp effort to procreate its kind by putting stimulated energy into seed production.

Weyerhaeuser foresters have taken advantage of this trait by strapping narrow steel bands on about 100 "guinea pig" Douglas Fir trees 15 to 25 years old. Annual diameter expansion of the fast-growing trees will increase the pressure of the bands, causing restriction of the food flow and scarring the trees into thinking their days are numbered.

The effect on the tree's growth mechanism is expected to linger five to seven years after the bands are removed at the end of a two-year period.

If the plot works, it may become a common sight to see giant Douglas Firs in corsets, for birth instead of girth control.

The world has about 15 billion acres of land under cultivation.

Majority of the Sunday schools enrolled in the pre-Easter contest are working hard the figures show as the half-way mark in the effort was reached last Sunday. Several new section leaders showed up in the new report revealing that competition is keen and much work is being done by the teachers and officers of the respective schools.

Before the correct listing can be established, Miss Mary E. Nord of Bessemer, county secretary, must have the correct figures and all the amounts on the cards must be filled in. Some cards have been received incomplete, thus no results were shown on today's contest standing.

Senate To Vote On 18-Year-Old Draft Monday

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(INS)—The Senate agreed today to a vote at two p. m. EST Monday on an amendment to the draft bill which would ban the induction of men under 18 and one-half years old.

The vote will be the first showdown on the controversial draft issue. Administration leaders predict the Senate will reject the amendment by Sen. Morse (R) Ore., and retain the bill's provision to make 18 the minimum draft age. The test vote was ordered as Sen. Cain (R) Wash., declared the draft bill will make it possible for Weary GI's in Korea to return home because replacements for them will become available.

Army Enlistments Are Now Limited

Beginning March 1, 1951, volunteer enlistments for the United States army will be extremely limited.

Master sergeant H. O. Falls of the New Castle army and air force recruiting station has stated that the Pittsburgh recruiting headquarters will only be able to enlist and ship to the reception center 16 men a day, six days a week.

As a result of the curtailment, applicants will be accepted strictly on a first come, first served basis.

All applicants will be placed on a waiting list, pending larger quotas. At present, there is no indication as to when army quotas will be raised.

Rabbi Will Be Speaker Here

Will Make Address At Donor Event Of New Castle Hadassah

RABBI P. S. BERNSTEIN

Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein, of Rochester, N. Y., is to be the prominent speaker in March at the gala donor event sponsored by the New Castle Chapter of Hadassah.

Sunday evening, March 11, at 8 p.m., at The Castleton, is the date scheduled for the event, which is to be a reception and tea. Open to the public, indications point that a large crowd, local and out-of-town, will attend.

Held yearly, this year's event promises to be even a more elaborate one due to the prominence of the speaker engaged and to the entertaining musical program which is to follow.

Rabbi Bernstein is the spiritual leader of the Temple B'rith Kodesh of Rochester, N. Y., and is also president of the Central Conference of America Rabbis.

On Timely Topic
Receiving national fame for his excellent article last September in Life magazine entitled, "What the Jews Believe," Rabbi Bernstein will speak on a timely topic here, when he gets the Hadassah campaign "off to a flying start" that evening.

During the war Rabbi Bernstein was executive director of the Committee on Army and Navy Religious Activities of the National Jewish Welfare Board. On official missions he visited most of the battle fronts of the war.

In 1946 and 1947 he served as adviser on Jewish affairs to the United States Army Commanders in Europe. Rabbi Bernstein kept in personal contact with all of the Jewish D.P. installations in Germany and Austria. His duties brought him in close contact with President Truman, and the Prime Ministers of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Italy, and France, with Ernest Bevin, ex-president Hoover and Pope Pius XII.

The speaker is vice-president of the World Alliance for Friendship through Religion. He is former president of the Rochester City club and the planning and housing committee.

Rabbi Bernstein received degrees from Syracuse University and the Jewish Institute of Religion. In addition he also studied at Columbia University and Cambridge University and the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

At the close of Rabbi Bernstein's talk, an inspiring cantata, "Seven Golden Buttons," will be presented with members of local Hadassah participating.

Governor Fine Discusses State Taxation Aims

MORRISVILLE, Pa., March 2—(INS)—Industry was urged Thursday by Gov. John S. Fine to build in Pennsylvania and promised it "will not be overburdened by taxation."

In a speech during groundbreaking ceremonies for the U. S. Steel Corporation's Fairless plant near Morrisville, the governor pointed out that the area will benefit from thousands of new jobs plus "an impressive new payroll."

Smaller business, he added, will be nourished by new trade opportunities.

Fine pointed out that his administration would be "sympathetic" toward industry's problems and stated:

"Our present tax structure respecting business and industry, when considered by state and local imposts, is favorable. We insist upon keeping it that way. True, increased costs of everything, may soon force a broadening of our tax base."

"You may rest assured any increases which may be found to be necessary will be equitably distributed and will not be overly burdensome upon business or individuals."

"I do not want the tax burden upon industry, considering both state and local taxes, to be heavier in this state than in other industrial states. Large areas of public expenditures are carried by our state rather than by local governments. That in itself, is an invitation to industry to come into Pennsylvania. This distribution of the tax load is a most important

Will Observe St. David's Day

Dinner In Epworth Saturday Night

Although March 1 is St. David's Day, the New Castle citizens of Welsh descent will mark the day Saturday night, March 3, with a dinner in Epworth Methodist church.

Harry Jones is the general chairman of the affair and has aranged a program that promises well.

Attorney Thomas L. Jones of Pittsburgh, a deputy attorney-general for Pennsylvania will be the principal speaker. Dave Lewis will be the song leader with Mrs. John M. Evans as the accompanist. The invocation will be pronounced by Rev. Thomas J. Jones and the benediction by Rev. James N. Rainey.

Vocalists will include Leslie Marietta of Wampum, Mrs.

Beatrice McNickolas, and Dave Lewis. The dinner is sponsored by the American True Ivoirites.

GOES TO HOSPITAL

Dominick DeLeone, member of the city police force, is in the New Castle hospital, where he is to undergo a goitre operation.

Preliminary search for oil by helicopter is under way in Canada's vast and only partly-explored Northwest Territory.

Three New Police Cars In Service

Two of three new Ford autos purchased by the city some weeks ago are in service and the third new auto will be put into service some time today, according to police officials. The three old cars will be sold to the highest bidder.

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB
(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
(Distributed By International News Service)

For Illustrated Education On T.V.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(INS)—One picture, according to the adage, is worth a thousand words. Or it is 10,000? To carry this premise to its logical conclusion, would necessarily part me from my present honest employment.

However, I must report that Miss Frieda B. Hennock, the only honey blonde member of the federal communications commission, is on the side of pictures. She is thoroughly convinced that illustrated education on television can turn America into a nation of quiz kids and Phi Beta Kappas on the quick.

Acting on this conviction, Miss Hennock has been battling for the past two years to persuade the FCC to set aside or allot 25 percent of the nation's future television outlets to education, on a strict, non-commercial basis.

"Thirty million American adults are enrolled in some form of education classes today, an increase of 600 percent in the past four years," Miss Hennock said. "Think what TV classes in the home could mean to them!"

Most Challenging
"Television is the most exciting and challenging thing that has happened to education since the invention of the printing press. And the only thing comparable to it in importance," she added, over a luncheon dish of eggs benedict.

"Television is the electronic blackboard of today, capable of turning every American home into a modern, up-to-date little red school house. TV is capable of teaching everything from the construction of a cherry pie to the Einstein theory!

"One picture is worth 10,000 words, but visual education scarcely has a toe hold in this country. Why, the American school system is still using McGuffey reader methods!"

"Do you know that during the last war, the navy used pictures to teach good, basic English to Chinese, who didn't know a word of the language, in an eight-week course?"

Visual Lessons
"And recently I saw visual lessons in French that will enable you to cope with a head-waiter in six to eight weeks!" Miss Hennock stated. Not even Miss Hennock, a reformed Wall Street lawyer, knows whether TV is to be made safe for education.

For the last two years, almost from the moment she was appointed the only woman member of the FCC, she has fought a stiff battle to persuade the rest of the commission to allot one-quarter of the remaining TV licenses to non-commercial educational purposes and institutions.

The commission figures there are approximately 2,500 stations yet to be licensed in the very high frequency and ultra high frequency portions of the spectrum. It may begin issuing licenses by the end of 1951. Miss Hennock would reserve approximately 650 of these stations for educational purposes.

Nothing In 17 Years
Since these 2,500 potential stations are worth their weight in gold, commercial interests have displayed a notable lack of enthusiasm for Miss Hennock's crusade and in commission hearings have offered voluntarily to devote a nice slice of TV time to educational features.

However, Miss Hennock remembers that when the FCC was created in 1934 the industry promised, if 25 percent of radio time was not set aside for education by government fiat, it would do so voluntarily.

"So the high-sounding federal radio education committee was created at that time, and in seventeen years it has got education exactly nothing," snorts Miss Hennock, who does not regard soap operas as educational.

Miss Hennock is crusading for a 25 percent TV cut for education by law, and no foolin'. The decision on the FCC on this matter may be made in days or months. But in the meantime, almost every educator, educational association and educational institution is solidly stacked behind Miss Hennock, who is very well stacked in her own right.

Possible Sites For Air Academy Are Being Selected

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(INS)—The air force announced selection Thursday of seven possible sites, three of them in Texas, for an air academy similar to the navy's Annapolis and the army's West Point.

The Texas sites are at Grapevine, another in Grayson county and at Randolph field. The other four are:

Camp Beale, Calif.; a site near Colorado Springs, Colo.; one near Madison, Ind., and another near Charlotte, N. C.

These sites survive from among more than 250 towns and cities bidding for the academy.

In The Open

The countryman watches February slip over the edge into oblivion. He turns from waving a not too fond farewell and finds the braggart March standing in the season's door, blocking up the way with his broad, bullying shoulders. In his role as a blustering show-off March blows his windy trumpet at the head of the parade of the opening year, followed closely by the bright green banners of April. Even though the streams are flowing cloudy and the winds blow hard as steel, the countryman knows that March is a loud-mouthed faker, trying hopelessly to out-shout the sure promise of the returning Spring.

The promise may be long in finding its fulfillment, of course. The snow may yet lie deep and the frost nip the venturesome pussy willows purring by the brookside. March is really no Spring month, in spite of the old almanacs. It might be called a blank page between the winter and the Spring. But scan it closely and there written largely for all to see is the sure promise that lured the bluebird, now "shifting his light load of song from post to post along our cheerless fence."

Can't Catch Footfalls

Thoreau has said that no human ear is keen enough to catch the first footfalls of returning Spring. The countryman hears the chanting of the songsparrow in his dooryard, watches the alder catkins fall free from their tight-wrapped buds, and knows what he knows, despite the weatherman. Even the air is charged with the faint, tantalizing perfume brewed in the warm Carolina. I don't know how the rates of payment are scaled in the feathered musicians' union, but I do know that if I were the fixer that the songsparrow would draw top salary. He is my favorite crooner. I have heard him at his simple hymn of praise in every month of the year.

This morning I timed one of these sweet singers, who serenaded us by the hour from a little ash tree behind the house. While he was not disturbed, he turned in eight bits of sprightly melody each minute. At this rate he would be pouring out his thanks to Him who sees the fall of every sparrow some 480 times each hour.

This hourly record, of course, he don't quite equal. There are too many apprehensions, too many imagined or real alarms in the feathered world. As I watched my chosen songster he suddenly fell silent, then as suddenly set up an impatient scolding, though I could detect nothing of a disturbing nature in the whole neighborhood. Finally he flew to the distant fence, and later I heard him tucking up once more in the sunlight.

Gives Everything He's Got

When the songsparrow sings he gives it everything he's got. Completely devoid of inhibitions, he drops his tail, points his bill skyward, and pours all his emotion into glorious melodic chanting. Perhaps I'm prejudiced but I like his music even better than the gorgeous prima donna flutings of the thrushes. I was fearful the bitter Winter had been too much for the little folk hereabouts, but they make the welkin ring each dawning and all is well.

For the next few weeks, while the annual contest is on between the frost and the sun, the sap will rise in maple "bushes" scattered throughout the hardwood belt. When I was a lad, learning to read a little in Nature's infinite book of secrecy, I first became acquainted with the joys of the sugar camp. There were a dozen willing and able trees on an oil lease where I "helped out" and we ran our own small scale operation. We whittled out the elderberry spiles with patient care, shaping the end into a pouring lip and pushing the pith through the hollow stem with a rig-builder's spike. Then we selected the right sized auger bit and drilled through the inch-thick bark into the sap stream. With the right combination of frost and warming sun those rough-coated old trees fairly gushed their sweets into our odd assortment of buckets and pails.

We were able to make a partial boiloff atop the huge boiler which powered the pumping wells, but it was my mother who always inherited the chore of boiling down to that real essence on our kitchen stove at home. Never since have I encountered maple syrup so sweet as that delicious product of delightful boyhood hours.

Divorcee Gets Award Of $2,210 In Breach Of Promise Suit

TORONTO, Ont., March 2 (INS)—Mrs. Margery Avery, 31-year-old English-born divorcee, won a $2,210 breach of promise award on her charge that a Toronto architect lived with her in Chicago then tossed her out of his life calling her "a little tramp."

Mrs. Avery, an ex-model, swore to an assize court jury that she and 29-year-old architect Harvey Beecroft became intimate after he gave her his fraternity pin in lieu of an engagement ring.

She testified she accompanied Beecroft to Chicago when he went there on a scholarship, and lived with him as his wife. But his affection cooled, she related, and Beecroft broke off the engagement.

Mrs. Avery said Beecroft told her his parents objected to her. It was then, she alleged, that he said she had the reputation of "a little tramp."

Beecroft, in his testimony, said Mrs. Avery had "hounded" him at his studies in Chicago and later in Toronto, threatening to expose their relationship to his father, a minister.

The young architect said the divorcee "created many stormy scenes" and twice attempted suicide, once by slashing her wrists and once by taking an overdose of sleeping tablets.

Beecroft indicated he will appeal the jury's decision.

Senate Probers Asked To Expand Charges About Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, March 2.—(INS)—The senate's crime investigating committee was asked by Philadelphia authorities to expand its charges that the city's police are pocketing about $152,000 a month in graft to protect criminals.

The graft and corruption charges involving the Philadelphia police were mentioned in the report filed by the senate group. In a telegram to Sen. Kefauver

(D. Tenn.), chairman of the committee, Philadelphia public safety director Samuel H. Rosenberg asked him to either itemize his charges or "lay your facts before the federal grand jury in Philadelphia, which is investigating the very same subject."

The grand jury has been probing gambling and rackets in the Philadelphia area since last year.

Five Beaver County Suspects Arrested In Boxcar Looting

PITTSBURGH, March 2.—(INS)—FBI agents and Pennsylvania railroad police on Thursday announced the arrest of five Beaver county men, bringing to 18 the number held as suspect in boxcar looting at the Conway yards.

The ring had peddled most of the loot—valued at several thousand dollars and including beer, furniture, clothing and cigars—but about $1,000 worth has been recovered.

Held for court on charges of receiving stolen goods were Donald J. Reese, 24, of Pamaqua Village, Midland, and Anthony Latanz, 60, hotel owner in Kobuta.

Also held for court by the U. S. Commissioner on charges of stealing merchandise from interstate shipments were: Arthur L. Green, 31, Pennsylvania employee, of Beaver; Michael Siget, 18, of Jackson street, Rochester; and Eugene Matsook, 17, of Rochester.

Thirteen men, all but one employees of the railroad, were arrested last November in connection with the thefts.

New Castle Indians Purchase Five Players From Johnstown

Making good on an avowed effort to secure a "hitting" ball club this summer—the New Castle Indians board of directors last night approved the purchase of five players from Johnstown's heavy hitting 1950 club—Chet Butler, Walt Kowalski, Don Lavigne, Milan Kapusta and Bill Ciske.

The deal with Johnstown was engineered Monday at Erie by President Al Scarazzo and Charlie "Bugs" Walther, assistant business manager. It was a "package deal" and entailed the output of $1,500.

Kowalski Heaviest Hitter

Kowalski is the heaviest hitter among those purchased, having hit .344 last year in 55 games for Johnstown and is a left fielder. He hit 12 home runs. Butler hit at .334 clip in 98 games with Vandergrift and Johnstown and batted 15 homers. Lavigne hit .320 for Youngstown and Johnstown and hit 20 homers to tie for second in this department last year with Al Golich of Erie. Roop led the league with 21.

Ciske a Right-Handed Pitcher

Ciske is a right-handed pitcher won 11 and lost nine for Erie and Johnstown and had an earned average of .448. He fanned 139 and walked 115. Milan Kapusta is a catcher and hit .287 in 102 games with Johnstown hitting seven homers. He had a fielding mark of .973.

Two Negroes Coming

Butler can play either third or second base. Lavigne is an infielder or outfielder, playing center for Johnstown. He played short and third for Youngstown, before being sold to Johnstown. All five men will be welcomed additions to the team that Al "Lefty" Milnar, former Cleveland Indian star hurler, will put together here in the Class C Middle-Atlantic league.

Cleveland is sending two Negro stars here for seasoning—Ted Toles of Newton Falls, Ohio, an outfielder-first baseman, and Rudy Johnston, an outfielder. Johnston is the property of Harrisburg, a Cleveland farm team. Both boys are highly regarded.

Stockholders Will Meet Hanks-Clowns

Milnar And Lewis Monday Play Saturday

New Castle baseball fans will get a look at the new 1951 playing-manager Al "Lefty" Milnar, and the business manager Jack Lewis, Monday night at 8 o'clock at King Humbert Hall on Division street, it was announced today by President Al Scarazzo of the New Castle Indians Mid-Atlantic league club.

Milnar and Lewis will be accompanied to New Castle by Glenn "Gyp" Lewis, Cleveland scout, and father of young Jack. The newly-hired business manager will start to work here at once.

The New Castle club has several projects coming up to help finance the club this year. The concession stand at Flaherty Memorial Field will be operated by the New Castle club this year, under a new arrangement.

Seek Winning Club

All stockholders are urged to make it a point to attend the Monday meeting to extend a real welcome to the new manager.

New Castle will operate under an optional agreement with Cleveland this year. As the Senators last year the team finished in fourth place and were eliminated in the playoffs by the championship Butler Tigers.

Considerable enthusiasm was displayed by the board of directors last night and the outlook is very good for a winning team this year.

Eikenberg, Horne, Rossman, Wagner, and Zedulis of the 1950 team have been sent contracts and may be back in the fold this year.

New Castle will be allowed to carry ten veterans this year, veterans in baseball are players with three or more of organized baseball. Each team in the league can carry 17 players for the season.

Mohawks Top Hornets, 2-1

(By International News Service)

With the American Hockey league Calder Cup playoffs less than three weeks away, the Cincinnati Mohawks and Pittsburgh Hornets are both trying to stay in the running for the only vacant playoff berth in the western division.

The Mohawks hold the coveted third place spot at present, but the Hornets are only a half game away and the cellar-dwelling St. Louis Flyers are only two games behind Cincinnati.

Caps Top Reds

The Mohawks passed the Hornets last night when they beat them, 2-1, at Pittsburgh.

The Indianapolis Caps strengthened their hold on second place in the western sector by blasting the Providence Reds, 8-4, and the Hershey Bears whipped St. Louis, 5-2, in other games last night.

No games were scheduled for tonight.

Wampum Begins Serious Work For Avalon Battle Tuesday Night

After two days of light drills the Wampum Indians are getting down to serious preparation for their quarter final game with Avalon at Dormont next Tuesday night.

Several of coach Butler Henon's players have been suffering with colds, but are expected to be able to work out. Again the Indians will get some work on the larger floors in the district in preparation for the game.

Working on the larger floors seemed to pay dividends last Tuesday in the East Washington game. Only the protruding baskets seem-the success of this year's team to the fine playing of 6 foot 3 inch center Don Tobin and 6 foot 2 inch forward Ronnie Mayer. According to Dennison, they are two of the best in this part of the state and could play on most collegiate teams today.

Comparative records of the teams do not appear to give Avalon the edge that tournament experts give the Beaver Valley team. Against their only common foe, the team did just about the same thing, and there is no other measuring stick to go by.

Both teams rolled through their respective sections with little trouble and suffered all their losses at the hands of class A teams in pre-league action.

Offensively the Indians hold a slight edge with an average of 62.4 points per game, against the Golden Panthers' 60. Defensively Avalon has held its opponents to a little under 40 points per game, while Wampum has allowed its opponents on the average of 48.4 points per tilt.
